

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

There is disclosed an image processing apparatus comprises in order to judge an image prohibited by law from being printed at high speed, a judgment unit for 5 judging for each predetermined area whether or not an output requested image includes information indicating that the image is a judgment object image; and a determination unit for determining the predetermined area for each predetermined distance with respect to 10 the output requested image.